Do you use video or audio material to communicate with clients or staff? Would you like to?

We are a brand new production company, but hiring us could really make a difference... Here is how...

Do you produce promotional videos, embed films in your website or distribute DVDs?

Are you planning to start podcasting or do you need to make training videos?

Maybe it is a one off project, or more long term...

Either way, we can help. But you can help us too...

● Experience

We have a team of professionals who have years of experience working in the broadcast industry for companies like the BBC and CNN.

● Documentary difference

We use money raised from your project to help us fund documentary production. We have stories we want to tell, and you can be part of it.

● Consultancy

Our experience means we can help you develop the correct strategy and help you produce material that reaches your target audience.

● Development to post-production

We will work with you from start to finish, or we can help you complete individual stages of the process.
